Introducing the FM Freefone

Xtatix, LLC. has released the next generation Freefone, the FM Freefone, to the public. The FM Freefone was first released as a demo in October of 2005 at the Digital Life expo in Manhattan, New York.

The FM Freefone takes the unique design of the original Freefone and integrates a built-in digital FM radio into the earpiece. The Freefone MP3 player design stands out from other MP3 players because the Freefone has an MP3 player built-into the earpiece of what look to be a normal pair of earphones. The no wire, no hassle design is perfect for gym goers, athletes, travelers, or any active people who need to be mobile and demand high quality sound, but don't want to be burdened with wires.

With the built-in FM radio people can now enjoy their favorite radio programs or tune into the TVs at gyms which use FM transmission for TV audio. The FM radio is easy to operate and simple to learn how to use.

The FM Freefone is now available through Xtatix.com exclusively.
